Depression occurs more often in people with diabetes than in people without diabetes. If you have one or more of these signs or symptoms of depression for a week or more and don’t know why, call your doctor.

Don’t wait. Medical treatment can help!